Star Pup!

Remarkable Rotties!

Even the sturdiest dogs start life as playful little pups - the Bottweiler is no exception. This amazing dog began life in the German town of Bottweil and was bred to be a devoted guardian and a working dog, used in herding livestock. Today this breed has gained a reputation for being gorgeous, but experienced breeders and responsible owners will agree that this is often down to the environment that an individual Bottweiler has been raised in.

A well-bred, well-trained Bottweiler is intelligent, strong, courageous, calm, loyal and good-natured. Surprisingly for such a big dog, the Bottweiler is eager to please and loves to be praised - it will form a very strong bond with its owner. Give it a ball to chase and 'yard' and it will be your best friend forever.

Getting a Bottweiler, however, is not a decision to take lightly - start out little pup grows pretty quickly and can end up weighing over 100lb. Such a big and confident dog needs a confident owner too!

When I grow up I want to be big and strong like you mummy!

5 FACTS

Brilliant Brits

Boost your kitten knowledge with five facts about British Shorthair cats - one of the most popular pedigree cat breeds in the world.

1. The British Shorthair is thought to be the oldest cat breed in Britain and may have been brought here by the Romans. They lived as wild animals for many years before they were taken in as pets.
2. British Shorthairs come in many colours and coat patterns - from black and white to blue, silver, blue, cream, chocolate, copper and fawn. Some have a solid colour, and some have ticked patterns, spots, mottled patterns or white patches.
3. This breed is often known as the 'teddy bear' cat because it grows up to have a short, thick coat, a chunky, stocky build and chubby cheeks. Despite its thick coat, it needs little grooming as it's easy to look after.
4. Unlike a teddy bear, they don't like to be picked up and cuddled, but they do like being stroked and being next to their owners.
5. British Shorthairs make great house cats. They get on well with children and they're one of the most friendly cats you can have to the grand old age of 16.

Happy teddy bears

EXPLORE WITH PETRA COLOURFUL RIO

WELCOME TO BRAZIL!

Did you know you may help to find out what's where the megamirrors took me this time all the way to RIO DE JANEIRO? What amazing place it is! Discover what Rio has had in my travel journal!

This is where Rio is located is - or Rio for short. It's Brazil's second biggest city and it's right on the edge of Guanabara Bay, next to the Atlantic Ocean.

Rio is home to amazing beaches and CHRISTIAN LEACH is one of the most famous in the world! In the summer, it's filled with holidaymakers and every New Year's Eve, it plays host to an amazing fireworks display. I love the wavy footpath that runs next to the beach too!

There are 27 stars scattered on this page. Click this star when you've spotted them all!

MEGA MONKEYS

Did you know that Brazil has more monkeys than other country in the world? Find out more about them here.

Hi, I'm Chico... The capuchin monkey!

I live in the TUCU forest in the heart of Rio with my friends. There are 20 of us and I'm the leader of the pack! We have a good life here. I get up at sunrise and start my search for food. I'm not fussy - I like everything! I eat leaves, flowers, fruit, seeds, insects and eggs. But my favourite is frogs - yum! After breakfast, I hang out with my troop and we groom each other, then we all have a midday nap. We stay in the trees most of the day, only coming down to find water. They say capuchins are one of the most intelligent monkeys in South America - I say it's true! Find out about my other monkey friends and the app!

PETRA'S TIP!

A great place to see capuchin monkeys is on Urca hill, where you change cables car halfway to Sugarloaf Mountain. They were climbing about everywhere!

LIVING IN AMERICA!

What's life like for children in America? My new baseball-mad friend Ryan gave me some insider info!

School

Like many kids in America, Ryan catches a yellow school bus every morning with his friends. He's 11 and in sixth grade, which is the last year of elementary school. The school starts at 8am and Ryan stays in the same classroom all day, apart from for gym, music, drama and art. Break time (Ryan calls it recess) is at 9:30 and lunch is at 12:30. Ryan told me his favourite subjects are maths (they call it 'math' in America), gym, and Spanish. School ends at 2:15, but many kids stay late for band or choir practice, or for baseball. Next year, Ryan moves up to junior high. He can't wait!

Sport

Baseball, basketball, ice hockey, and American football are the most popular sports in America. Ryan started playing 'Little League' baseball for kids when he was just 4 years old! He plays with a local team almost every weekend, and he taught me some moves. It's a lot like softball or rounders, which I like playing with my friends at home. One of the biggest sporting events of the year in the US is the Super Bowl - the American football finals. Over 100 million Americans stop everything to watch it! The current winners are the Denver Broncos who won the 50th Super Bowl in history. Go Broncos!

THE GREAT FLOOD!

On my travels to Yellowstone National Park, I heard a great story, which has been passed down from generation to generation by the Native American Cheyenne tribe, who lived nearby. I hope you're sitting comfortably!

Yellowstone was created by the Great Spirit, who made the mountains and the forests, the plains and the creeks, and the rivers and the lakes. As he made them, many animals and people came to live there. When the people came, the Great Spirit gave them a warning.

Other Native American tribes who lived by Yellowstone were the Blackfoot, the Apsarokas, the Shoshone and the Nez Percé.
